Q: How have you been reaching out to people? How many people have wells that might be affected by the blowout?

A: We initially reached out to people via reverse 911 in the areas along the Animas River with wells that may be impacted. We have also received calls from citizens inquiring about this and have routed them to the call center, which is accepting all the calls about well testing. Once those calls come in, we work with authorities to get testers out to the sites.

The number of wells that they estimate may be affected are _____.
